

You are being asked to be a volunteer in a research study. The purpose of this study is to understand how our perceptual system functions. The experiment will involve a visual/auditory perception task with between 1 and 10 days of testing, with each day lasting between 10 and 90 minutes. You may stop at any time for any reason.

You will be compensated at $12 to $20/hr for your participation, with higher rates used for longer, more demanding, or less desirable tasks. Total compensation will depend on the length and number of sessions completed. Based on the possible study duration, total compensation is expected to range from approximately $12 to $40. Typical participation is expected to be approximately $15 for about 1 hour of participation.

U.S. Tax Law requires that a 1099-misc be issued if U.S. tax residents receive $600 or more per calendar year. If non-U.S. tax residents receive more than $75, mandatory 30% withholding is required. Your address and Tax I.D. may be collected for compensation purposes only. This information will be shared only with the Georgia Tech department that issues compensation, if any, for your participation.

Your data will be completely anonymous. Anonymous data that cannot identify you personally will be freely shared with other researchers and posted on public repositories. We will comply with any applicable laws and regulations regarding confidentiality. The risks involved are no greater than those involved in daily activities and there are no additional benefits. To make sure that this research is being carried out in the proper way, the Georgia Institute of Technology IRB may review study records. The Office of Human Research Protections may also look at study records.

This study is open to participants located in the United States only. Individuals located in China, the European Union, or the United Kingdom are not eligible to participate and should not proceed.

If you have any questions about the study, you may email Dr. Dobromir Rahnev at rahnev@psych.gatech.edu. If you have any questions about your rights as a research subject, you may contact Georgia Institute of Technology Office of Research Integrity Assurance at IRB@gatech.edu. Thank you for participating in this study.

By going to the next page and beginning the study, you indicate your consent to be in the study.